A student’s minor or concentration may be declared under any catalog published at the time of matriculation or after the year of matriculation into the institution. Detailed requirements for minors are found in the program sections of the catalog.

Minors

A minor is a declared secondary field of study, usually 20 semester hours, outside one’s major area of study. A minor generally consists of a prescribed program of study.

Concentrations

A concentration is a declared secondary field of study, consisting of 24 semester hours, outside one’s major area of study. A concentration requires 24 hours of coursework within a discipline and does not prescribe specific courses, exclusive of prerequisites.

Successful completion of at least 16 s.h. of the minor or concentration coursework with a minimum 2.00 grade point average is required. At least 67% of the minor or concentration subject must be completed at King.
