The Office of Academic Affairs, as part of the larger process of evaluating the effectiveness of King’s academic programs, administers student course evaluations online for each class taught during every semester.